

Updating Keychains

Bernard L. Schwartz Communication Institute

When you log in to one of our computers for the first time since changing your Baruch network password, you'll be prompted with a dialog box like this before you can access any applications or Airplay:

The best option is to click “Update Keychain Password,” and to then enter your old password in the pop-up that comes next.

If you don't remember the password immediately before your current one, click “Create New Keychain,” and enter your current password to proceed.
