Fall Semester Recap

Every semester Executives on Campus [EOC] provides programs and events that benefit the professional success of Baruch students. For the fall 2016 semester, EOC was able to match a record number of students and mentors in the Academic Year-Long Program, as well as presented timely insights and career advice to hundreds of students in our Job$mart Speaker Series.

On the evening of September 29th, EOC hosted the annual Academic Year-Long Program launch party, where newly matched students and mentors met for the first time. The Year-Long Program paired 277 students with 220 mentors from September 2016 to May 2017, a record number of matches for EOC. The students in this year's program are juniors and first-year graduate students in the class of 2018, from all three Baruch Schools: the Marxe School of Public and International Affairs, the Weissman School of Arts and Sciences, and the Zicklin School of Business.

Lou LaTorre shares with students the best tips to become a master interviewer.

Also, on November 17th GCMC Advisor and EOC mentor, Jack Pullara hosted a Job$mart breakfast workshop on nonverbal communication. Jack shared stories from applicant interviews, interactions with clients from his former career as an auditor, and some personal examples that left students better equipped to decode the hidden messages we share with each other. Students who attended both Job$mart Series this semester were twice prepared for future job interviews.

Thank you to all of our mentors, students, support staff and volunteers; your participation and continuous support help to make our mentoring programs and events a huge success. The EOC community consists of current students, mentors, alumni and friends, who are actively involved in our programs and through social media (LinkedIn, Twitter and Facebook).

We look forward to another exciting and productive semester this spring!
